RSHC PROMOTES MATTHEW KENNISON TO PARTNERSHIP

CHICAGO – Riley Safer Holmes & Cancila LLP (RSHC) announced that it has elected a new partner, effective January 1, 2021.

Matthew Kennison focuses his national practice on conducting internal investigations on behalf of a wide array of clients across various industries, most notably as part of RSHC’s Higher Education team, where he has partnered with colleges and universities to act as the external investigator in sensitive Title IX investigations.

As a former police detective, Matt is a uniquely effective investigator and litigator, regularly assisting clients in responding to DOJ, SEC, state Attorney General, and other regulators’ inquiries. Beyond this work, Matt has extensive litigation experience in many areas, including federal antitrust, civil rights, Title IX litigation, civil RICO, shareholder disputes, securities litigation, automotive supplier disputes, personal injury defense, and other complex commercial disputes. He was recently selected for inclusion in the 2021 edition of Best Lawyers: Ones to Watch on the basis of his excellence in Antitrust Law.

“We are proud to have Matt joining our partnership,” said Managing Partner Patricia Brown Holmes. “He has been an integral member of multiple trial and appellate teams. His collaborative and creative approach to that work has generated opportunities for our clients to address and resolve complex matters in a constructive and successful ways.”

“Matt thrives in stressful situations. He knows how to anticipate what’s likely to happen next, act quickly, and help plot the course that will serve the best interests of his clients. He is a great addition to our partnership,” added Gregory Curtner, partner in the Ann Arbor office where Kennison’s practice is based.
