Natalie Ellis is a dedicated advocate with experience in all stages of litigation, defending clients in complex product liability and mass tort claims in state and federal courts. Known for her sharp attention to detail and ability to quickly grasp the technical nuances of her clients' products, she develops tailored strategies that align with business objectives and drive efficient, meaningful results.

She has secured dismissals in cases with settlement demands over $2 million by leveraging creative, disciplined, and daring negotiation tactics. Natalie currently manages a docket of more than 500 cases in Missouri and Illinois and also litigates complex civil claims such as fraud and wrongful death.

Natalie has in-depth knowledge of kratom and the scientific, regulatory, and industry-specific considerations that drive claims involving the product. Her familiarity with the evolving research and risk profiles allows her to strategically evaluate and defend kratom-related litigation.

Before joining RSHC, Natalie practiced medical malpractice defense at a Chicago-based firm, representing hospitals and healthcare professionals.
